

GOOD WORK OF CATHOLIC PUPILS

Several Boys' and Girls' Schools Have Their Commencement and Receive Rewards.

A WEALTH OF FLOWERS

Friends of Successful Students Showered With Floral Tributes.

The seventy-first annual commencement of St. Joseph's Academy was held at the academy yesterday morning, June 20th, at 9:30 o'clock, the Right Rev. Bishop Van de Vyver presiding.

While guests and students assembled, the work of the art class of the academy, displayed in the drawing room to the left of entrance, was open to inspection, and the many beautiful paintings in figure pieces, flowers, landscapes and fruits excited much admiration and won the highest commendation for teachers and students.

In the assembly hall of the academy the girls in their pretty white dresses and ribbons, the palms with which the hall was decorated, and the graduation class, seated to the right of the stage, made a most attractive picture. Seated with Bishop Van de Vyver were Rev. Fathers Bowler, Magri and Prim, of New Orleans. The conferring of medals and diplomas and the annual address of Bishop Van de Vyver was preceded by a delightful musical program in which the vocal class trained and directed by Miss Nini Handolph, delighted the audience. The opening number was the "Soldiers' Chorus" from Gounod's Faust, rendered with excellent effect, by the chorus, numbering about forty young girls, and reinforced by a sextette of specially trained vocalists.

An instrumental duet, "Corral Caves," by Smith, came next, with Miss Agnes Holzgrafe and Miss Carrie Bragg as the performers. The ease and grace with which they executed a difficult, but lovely composition, was well matched by the manner in which Miss Olive King rendered Liezt's "Rhapsodie Hongroise, No. 2." This trio of young pianists were much complimented.

Excellent Vocal Music.

The vocal class did themselves and Miss Handolph special credit in Lohr's "Swing Song," Gounod's Waltz from Faust, and Wagner's "Hall Bright Abode," from Tannhauser. The sweet voices rang out fresh, pure and strong, in perfect harmony without a false note to mar their perfect effect. The work, Mr. Mercer, the well known director, was present and was greatly pleased.

After the musicale, Bishop Van de Vyver made an earnest and forcible address to the graduates, congratulating them on having attained the object for which they entered the school, on their cultivation of their hearts and minds; on the fact of their having had teachers willing and able to direct them aright. He told them that much of their life work was unfinished, and that it would be ended only with their lives. He impressed upon them the beauty and the value of work, and reminded them of the example they had in the Mother of Christ, who with all the other household with its duties and responsibilities. He congratulated the teachers on the success of their labors in the school wished all the students a happy vacation, and invoked the blessing of God upon them.

The graduates rejoiced in a profusion of the most beautiful flowers, roses, carnations, sweet peas and all the other June blossoms, having been lavished upon to them honor. The full list of graduates, winners of prizes and honors is as follows:
